CEO Statement

In 2024, we showed resilience in challenging market conditions thanks to diligent strategic execution. In the fourth quarter, we maintained solid margins given low demand and currency headwind.

Solid margin in weak markets

I'm pleased that we successfully navigated the challenging market conditions that prevailed throughout 2024, initiated a separation process for our Automotive business and continued to strengthen our operational and innovation capabilities. This positions us well to capture profitable growth opportunities as demand recovers. For the full year 2024, we upheld a resilient adjusted operating margin of 12.3% in a market that shifted from organic growth in 2023 to organic decline of -5.4%. Cash flow from operations was solid at approximately SEK 11 billion.

The weak demand environment remained also in the fourth quarter, partly offset by a solid price/mix through effective pricing activities, diligent portfolio management, and strong aftermarket focus. The organic sales decline in the quarter was -3.1% with large variations between regions. Our Industrial business in Americas and India & Southeast Asia showed positive organic growth, partly due to favorable timing of deliveries before year-end. Demand in Europe and China remained weak, which also was the case for Automotive in general, except for our EV business in China that performed well.

Our adjusted operating margin in Q4 of 11.1% represents another proof point of our improved resilience given the negative volume development and a negative margin impact from currency of -0.9 percentage points.

We have continued to work hard on cost reduction activities and fully offset high wage inflation. The fourth quarter, however, was the first since the low demand environment started in mid-2023 where these activities were not able to fully offset the negative impact from low volumes. Due to the product mix, we also saw an increase in material cost. Our diligent cost reduction activities will continue, including looking at the set up for our Industrial and Automotive businesses to create a strong foundation for the future.

Our Automotive business had a challenging quarter with volatile demand, impacted by customers' reduced factory output. It is therefore encouraging that its underlying business performance is on a positive trajectory entering new margin accretive businesses. Our new Hub Bearing Unit for EVs, for example, provides significant customer value through increased mileage per battery charge by being 10% lighter than conventional wheel bearings and reducing friction by 30%.

Cash flow from operations was robust in the quarter at SEK 3.3 billion, supported by margin resilience and working capital reduction.

“ Regionalization is a key part of our strategy and during 2024, we further optimized our footprint. ”

Investing in creating a stronger SKF

Regionalization is a key element of our strategy. In 2024, we continued to invest in further optimizing our footprint and in creating competitive and resilient regional value chains. These efforts improved our regionalization rates during the year from 63% to 68% in Asia and from 66% to 69% in Americas. Increased regionalization brings several market- and operational benefits. In China for example, it has shortened lead times from order to delivery with 25% since 2019.

To position us to benefit from the electrification megatrend and the increasing demand for high-speed rotation, we are investing in our ceramic bearing capacity and capabilities. To strengthen our competitiveness and secure the full value chain, we are investing in increased access to raw material as well as in accelerating our manufacturing and R&D processes.

Separation update—Capital Markets Day on 11 November

Our work to create two fit for purpose businesses, Industrial and Automotive, is in an intensive phase. More information about the progress will be shared on our Capital Markets Day which will be held on 11 November 2025 in Stockholm.

Outlook

The world is rapidly changing, with markets affected by geopolitical uncertainty, and we expect continued volatility. For the first quarter of 2025, we expect organic sales to weaken somewhat, year-over-year.

In recognition of the Group's solid financial position, the Board has decided to propose to the Annual General Meeting a dividend of SEK 7.75 per share.

Notes

Note 1 Accounting principles

The consolidated financial statements of the SKF Group were prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as adopted by the EU. The interim report was prepared in accordance with IAS 34 Interim Financial Reporting.

Disclosures as required by IAS 34 p. 16 A are provided in the notes to the financial statements as well as in other parts of the interim report. The financial statements of the Parent Company were prepared in accordance with the "Annual Accounts Act" and the RFR 2 "Accounting for legal entities". SKF Group and the Parent Company applied the same accounting principles and methods of computation in the interim financial statements as compared with the latest annual report. IASB issued several amended accounting standards that were endorsed by EU, effective date 1 January 2024. None of these have a material effect on the SKF Group's financial statements.

Pillar II income taxes legislation was effective from 1 January 2024. Under the legislation, the parent company will be required to pay top-up tax on profit of its subsidiaries that are taxed at an effective tax rate of less than 15 percent.

No top-up tax has been included in the financial statements for the full year 2024. SKF Group has analyzed the financial figures and concluded that the Group is not expecting any additional material top-up tax during 2024. The Group will continue to assess the impact of Pillar II income taxes legislation on its future financial performance.

Valuation principles and classifications of the financial instruments, as described in SKF Annual report 2023, have been consistently applied throughout the reporting period. There are no major changes in fair value during the period.

Note 2 Transactions with related parties

No significant change is present for transactions with related parties in relation to disclosure provided in Annual Report 2023.

Note 3 Risks and uncertainties in the business

The SKF Group operates in many different industrial and geographical areas that are at different stages of the economic cycle. A general economic downturn at global level, for example caused by a pandemic, or in one of the world's leading economies, could reduce the demand for the Group's products, solutions and services for a period of time. In addition, war, terrorism and other hostilities, as well as disturbances in worldwide financial markets and natural disasters, could have a negative effect on the demand for the Group's products and services. There are also political and regulatory risks associated with the wide geographical presence.

The SKF Group is subject to both transaction and translation of currency exposure. For commercial flows the SKF Group is primarily exposed to the EUR, USD and CNY. As the major part of the profit is made outside Sweden, the Group is also exposed to translational risks in all the major currencies.

The financial position of the Parent Company is dependent on the financial position and development of the subsidiaries. A general decline in the demand for the products and services provided by the Group could mean lower residual profits and lower dividend income for the Parent Company, as well as a need for writing down values of the shares in the subsidiaries.

SKF is furthermore subject to an investigation in Brazil by the General Superintendence of the Administrative Council for Economic Defense, regarding an alleged violation of anti-trust rules by several companies active on the automotive aftermarket in Brazil.

Note 4 Assets held for sale

As per 31 December 2024 the assets and liabilities for part of the Aerospace operations in the US have been reported as assets held for sale in accordance with IFRS 5.

Note 5 Acquisitions

As of 31 October 2024, SKF has completed the acquisition of John Sample Group's Lubrication and Flow Management businesses. This acquisition strengthens SKF's regional capabilities in Southeast Asia, with a particular focus on customers in engineered solutions, heavy industries and mobile equipment.
